K. of P. Memorial Exercises.

The unveiling of the monument erected in the Paris cemetery to the memory of Andrew Jackson Lovely, in connection with the annual memorial exercises in memory of the departed dead of Rathbone Lodge, K. of P. No. 34, Sunday afternoon was an event in Pythianism long to be remembered in this city.

On account of the excessive heat the crowd was not large, but the ceremonies were appropriate and very impressive. The thermometer registered 94 degrees in the shade, and a young Knight from Ford, Ky., fainted just at the close of Hon. Geo. W. Wycoff's address, but was soon revived.

The exercises opened with prayer by Elder Carey E. Morgan, after which a song was rendered by a quartette composed of Mrs. Fannibelle Sutherland, Mrs. C. D. Webb, Prof. Albert H. Morehead and C. B. Mitchell. The Elks band then gave a selection and Miss Birdie Woolstein then thrilled the crowd with a beautiful vocal solo.

Mr. J. L. Earlywine then introduced the Hon. G. W. Wycoff, of Carlisle, who delivered one of the most appropriate and eloquent addresses in memory of the departed brothers that was ever heard on an occasion of this kind in Paris. Mr. Wycoff possesses all of the gifts that go to make the polished orator, and well deserves his reputation as one of the most eloquent speakers in Kentucky.

After another selection by the quartette, the monument was unveiled, and Capt. J. L. Earlywine of the A. J. Lovely Company, delivered a beautiful tribute to the departed. He said in part:

"We have assembled today in the Garden of Memories to pluck from the past its 'rooted sorrow,' to plant in its stead a forget-me not. The smile of summer seems to linger upon the bivouac of the silent campers. No crash of grounded arms, no rasp of opposing swords, no challenge of sleepless sentry disturbs the dream of the sleeper. For them 'no more shall the war cry sever, nor the winding rivers be read.' They have passed from our midst like the phantom world of melting clouds, like the peopled dreams of Lotus land.

"Mr. Burton, Geo. Mitchell, Frank Prather, Edward Paton, R. T. Wood, J. W. Hughes, Ben Perry, Andrew Jackson Lovely. We call their names and our only answer is the murmuring of the wind through the leafless past, the beating of a memory upon a boundless shore. Wrapped in the mantle of knight-hood they sleep to awaken no more except to the call of the Nazarine.

"They have passed away and yet are with us today, and we are with them; with us in the clasp of a vanished hand, with them in the garden of memories, with us in the work they left unfinished, with them in the deeds they have left us as our common heritage.

"Ten years ago I entered for the first time a castle hall for instructions in the secrets of Knighthood. I was greeted at the threshold by Andrew Jackson Lovely. He became the instructor, I the instructed; the teacher, I the pupil. With gentle step and kindly voice he led the tottering footsteps of the Page to the summit of Knighthood, from whose heights, in panoramic splendor was unfolded the 'sweet son of Ancient Greece,' the beautiful story of Damon and Pythias.

"But sweeter than the song of heroic Greece greater than the love of Pythian, powerless grander than the feats of belted knighthood was the lesson I learned of human heart. The one was merely a venerable legend of antiquity the other a warm throbbing great heart. One was the tree the other its fruit in all its luscious ripeness.

"No fabled sword of lion heart or Saladin was truer, no flashing mace of doughty Saxon or flaming scimitar of turbaned Saracen was braver, or mailed link of medieval armor more steadfast, no spotless plume of errant knight purer than the heart of Andrew Jackson Lovely.

"His battlefield was every day life, his crusade was the winning of the children of men, his holy grail was human hearts, his battle cry the golden rule, his watchword—'Love ye one another.'

"The monument of war, standing in the shadows, is forever crumbling, the fitting of the years is beating it into dust. The monument of love, standing in the sunlight, is forever growing, and each passing year but adds a stone to its towering height, until, in the Millennial Morn the Builder of Bethlehem shall place its apex.

"Let us not forget, as we leave over his silent form this simple stone for a sentinel, that no masonry of tomb or sepulcher, is strong enough to hold, no grave on earth deep enough to conceal the blameless knighthood of such a man.

The Next Senate.

Members of the Kentucky State Senate are not all elected at one time. There are thirty-eight Senators in all and half of them are elected at one time and the other half two years later.

This year the Senators from the districts with odd numbers hold over and these from districts with even numbers will be chosen this fall. It so happens that out of the nineteen odd numbered Senators the Republicans have twelve holdovers and Democrats only seven, so the Democrats must elect thirteen to control the Senate while the Republicans require only seven more. Hence they claim they will control the Senate, but a glance at the situation does not look so certain.

Of the nineteen districts in which Senators are to be elected this fall, nine are so surely Democratic that they are conceded by the Republicans, and there are nine districts that are classed as doubtful. With the seven holdovers and the nine certain Democratic districts the Democrats will have sixteen Senators to start the count, will have to elect only four in the doubtful districts to have control and six to tie.

Loathsome Democrats.

Democracy as defined by the Democrats in the Illinois Legislature is about as loathsome an article as one can imagine. A Republican boss has been sent to the United States Senate by the aid of Democratic votes. If the Democratic members of the Legislature had voted for Hopkins—objectionable as he was—they might have pleaded as an excuse that he had received a plurality in the primary of the dominant party; if they had found the selection of some clean and upright Republican they might have justified their act, but to join in the selection of Speaker Cannon's right hand man is indefensible whether considered from the standpoint of patriotism.

Why did they do it? Well, you cannot judge from the reason given publicly. Watch the Democrats who voted for him and you may be able to discover from their movements what led them to so grossly abuse the authority vested in them.

The "Curse" of a College Education.

According to a Chicago millionaire who is a large employer of labor, colleges are a "curse." They demoralize young men and unfit them for serious labor. State Legislatures instead of appropriating public funds to the support of these higher institutions of learning would do better to put the torch to them.

The man who makes this onslaught on education has amassed a fortune building elevators. If boys had never gone to college and professors had never made laboratory experiments in hydraulics and in electrical energy elevators might or might not be carrying passengers to the tops of tall office buildings.

But concerning the charge that a college education breeds idleness and incapacity, where is the evidence to be found warranting the broad statement? Certainly not in the record of the Harvard class of 1908, nearly one third of whose members worked their way wholly or in part through college and all of whom are now either in active employment or continuing their studies. Nor in the protest of the college oarsmen against the postponement of the Poughkeepsie regatta on the ground that the later date would interfere with their taking employment. Nor yet in the conditions reported by a commissioner of the London Times, who noted the greater number and influence of college men in business life as one of the striking phenomena of American development.

Why are college graduates preferred in banking houses and in law offices. If college men are idle and incompetent, why is there an increased demand for them in industrial life.

The assumptions that under the present conditions of study colleges are agreeable loafing places is an exploded fallacy. A college degree is today a certificate of capacity and industry quite equal to any the office youth of equal age can show. The prejudice exhibited against a college education by the self made Chicago millionaire who is thankful that he never had one is interesting mainly as an instance of the survival at this late day of the old "town and gown" animosities.

Follow the Astronomers.

When astronomers find an eccentricity in a planet's orbit, they look in that direction until they find the heavenly body that draws the planet out of its orbit. If the consumers of lumber will follow the example of the astronomers they may find that an earthly body named Weyerhaeuser, who abounds in stumpage, has caused the eccentricity in the political orbit of those Senators and members of the House who voted against free lumber.

Party Platforms.

The Nebraska State Journal (Rep.) says: "If the party platform is to serve no higher function than to make hypocrites of statesmen and dupes of their constituents, it should be abolished, and soon." There is no other alternative; abolish the statesmen who repudiate their platform and then educate the dupes.

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and anodyne. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchitis, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherry bark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, hang-on, chronic coughs, bronchitis and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Emily Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine: "In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon feeble, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many of the lingering (heartburn) and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood curing blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings and old sores, or ulcers.

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the native medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

Rest in Relaxation.

Relaxation is an art not difficult to acquire. Just stop, limbering every joint in your body, as a baby does.
Don't allow any stiffness to remain anywhere in your anatomy. Begin with your neck and think about every joint from there down to your toes, until they are loose. Then try to think of nothing whatever or of something trivial and pleasant. Fifteen minutes passed in this way will rest you more than hours of restless, troubled sleep.
Your nerves will regain their tone,
and small troubles will be easily passed over. Your expression will be cheerful and attractive and ugly lines will be smoothed out and driven away, making you appear years younger.

State Central Committee.

Chairman Thomas A. Combs has issued a call for a meeting of the permanent headquarters committee of the Democratic State Central Committee, to be held at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington next Friday, July 2, at 12 o'clock. The object of the meeting is to choose a secretary and select permanent headquarters for the committee. It is considered practically settled that the headquarters will be located in Lexington, and it is reported that the committee will probably take the suite of rooms on the fifth floor of the McClelland building which the Fayette Home Telephone Company will vacate on July 1.

R. G. Phillipp of Elizabethtown, secretary of the State Central Committee, is the strongest tip for the position of secretary, thought there are a number of candidates and some of the others may land the plum.

The committee is composed of State Senator Thos. A. Combs, chairman of this city; Judge J. A. Sullivan, of Richmond; Woodson May, of Somerset; H. M. Cox, of West Liberty; N.
Powell Taylor, of Henderson, and William Adams, of Cynthia.

Moon Captured by Earth.

That he had mathematically proved a discovery that the moon was a planet captured by the earth from space and not a detached portion of our globe, was the announcement made Friday night by Prof. J. J. See, astronomer in charge of the Naval Observatory at Mare Island, in a report to the Astronomical Society of the Pacific. He rejects entirely the long accepted theory of Laplace and Sir George Darwin, as-cribing earthy origin to the moon and declares his discovery is supported by rigorous mathematical proof, based on the methods of Hill, Poincare and Darwin.

Prof. See's announcement was a further development of his discovery announced last January, that all planets and satellites are captured bodies, whose orbits have been reduced since in size and rounded under the secular action of the nebular resisting medium once pervading the solar system.

The Scrap Book

Settling a Bet.

A New Yorker and a Chicagoan met at a big sanitarium where all alcoholic liquors were strictly forbidden.
To make amends for this a thoughtful individual had established a barroom at the foot of the hill on which the institution was situated. In front of this, at right angles to the sidewalk, hung a big sign.

"Clever name that gin mill down
there has," said the New Yorker, "The Last Chance."

"It's clever all right," replied the Chicago man, "but you've got it wrong. It's 'The First Chance.'"

Argument was superfluous. There was nothing to do but to make a small bet and settle it at once. The two went down the hill together, and pretty soon the westerner exclaimed triumphantly:

"The First Chance! I win."

The New Yorker could not dispute the evidence of his own senses, but was deeply puzzled. When they reached the place he looked at the other side of the sign. It read, "The Last Chance." To those going up the hill the resort was named "The Last Chance;" to those coming down it was "The First Chance."

The two men took both chances.

The Full of Joy.

If we might have the fruit without the blossoming.
If we the planting time and waiting time could miss.

Not half so sweet would seem the garnered nectar.
The gracious year be robbed of half its bliss.

If careless we might gain our greatest longing.
To human nature it would be as painted toy.

The sweat of brow and anxious, weary waiting Perhaps is that we learn to know the full of joy.

—Cora Lapham Hazard in New York Tribune.

How Odd!

"When the clock hands point to 10 o'clock," asserted the bold and dashing young man, "I am going to kiss you."
"You will do nothing of the kind,"
declared the spirited girl.

"Yes, I shall. And hereafter when I call I shall always kiss you when the clock says 10 o'clock."

Sure enough, when the hands of the clock have reached 10 he kisses her, although she defies him and spurns
him and upbraids him and censures him and says that she despises him and he must go and never return.

So he does, and calls the next evening.

And, lo, the clock has stopped at 10!

Loaded.

A Wyoming judge has a sarcastic humor which has made many culprits squirm, and among the number was a defendant in a cattle stealing case who was trying to explain that it would have been quite impossible for him to have brought into town the beef he was accused of having stolen and butchered owing to the fact that his two pack horses were heavily loaded with other things.

"One horse, he had told the jury, was packed with his fur overcoat, mining implements, etc."

"And what was on the other horse?"
inquired the judge.

"Well, there was a gallon of whisky—there was a gallon of whisky!"

The flustered defendant could think of nothing else.

"I knew a gallon of whisky was a load for a man," said the judge dryly,
"but I didn't know it was a load for a horse."—Lippincott's.

Whom He Feared.

An old Irishman who had recently recovered from a severe sickness chanced to meet the parish priest, who had been summoned during his illness to administer the rites of the church to the dying, as he was considered to be near death's door, and the following conversation took place:

"Ah, Pat, I see you are out again.
We thought you were gone sure. You had a very serious time of it."

"Yes, yer reverence, indeed I had."

"When you were so near death's door were you not afraid to meet your Maker?"

"No, indeed, yer reverence," replied
Pat. "It was the other gentleman I was afeared of."

A Horse to Order.

A sailor just home from a long cruise and out for a good time entered a livery stable to hire a horse for the day to take some of his shipmates into the country. The proprietor had a really fine horse brought out for inspection and said:

"There's a beauty for you—small head, clean legs, short back!"

"Short back be blowed!" yelled the sailor. "We want one with a long back. It's to carry nine!"

He Earned It.

One bleak winter morning a cold looking individual walked into a small cafe.

"Morning," he said cheerily, addressing himself to the white aproned attendant behind the bar.

"Morning," was the reply.

"How'd you like a sherry and egg
this morning?" continued the stranger.

"Well, that sounds very good to me.
Are you going to treat?"

"I'll furnish the eggs if you will contribute the sherry."

"Done," agreed the proprietor.

"All right. I'll be back in a minute," the frosted one called over his shoulder as he walked toward the door.

Into the street and around the corner he made his way and halted before a grocery store where the clerk was sweeping the steps.

"Morning," he said good naturedly.

"Morning," came the reply.

"A little raw this morning," he pursued.

"Yep."

"How'd a sherry and egg go this morning?" he asked, rubbing some heat into his hands.

"Best thing I've heard today," announced the clerk, interested.

"Tell you what I'll do," the stranger continued; "I'll furnish the sherry if you'll furnish the eggs."

"Sure."

"All right. Trot out three eggs and follow me."

And the stranger led the way back to the cafe.

"Here's the eggs," he announced to the proprietor.

"Here's the sherry," replied the proprietor, mixing the drinks.

"Here's how!" the three exclaimed in unison, and they drank the concoction and replaced the glasses on the bar.

"By the way," said the proprietor to the grocery clerk, "you contributed the eggs, didn't you?"

"Yep," said the clerk, smacking his lips.

"And I furnished the sherry, didn't I?"

"Yep," then, turning to the stranger, "how'd you get in this deal?"

"Why, gentlemen," replied the stranger as he bowed his way out, "my position is easily explained. I'm the promoter."—Lippincott's.

What He Puts on a Horse.

An instructor of cookery in a New Orleans school was endeavoring to make clear to her pupils which portions of a side of beef yielded the various butcher's "cuts." The neck, shoulder, leg and loin had been successively pointed out.

"Now, Alice," said the teacher to her brightest girl, "there is one portion I've not yet mentioned. Your father is a groom; he frequently rides horseback. Come now, tell me, what does he often put on a horse?"

"Two dollars each way, ma'am," replied sophisticated Alice.

American Royalty.

A visitor to one of the hotels at Carlsbad, Germany, tells the story of a gentleman to whom the servants and the proprietor paid the most profound attentions. He was royally treated rather to the neglect of the rest of the guests.

Every time he came out of the hotel door a strip of green carpet would be rolled down in front of him and the attendants would take off their caps and bow in the most deferential and obsequious manner. Neither the visitor thus so strangely honored nor the other guests could make out what this deference meant.

At last some one looked in the printed register, or Kurgast Liste. There was the entry:

"James the First, King of Buffalo, N. Y."

It was the native printer's rendering of the American name—James I.
King, Buffalo, N. Y.

How Wars Begin.

"Papa, how do nations get into war with each other?" asked Tommy Seasonby.

"Sometimes one way, sometimes another," said the father. "Now, there are Germany and Spain. They came near getting into war because a Spanish mob took down the German flag."

"No, my dear," put in Mrs. Season-by; "that wasn't the reason."

"But, my darling," said Mr. S., "don't you suppose I know? You are mistaken. That was the reason."

"No, dearie; you are mistaken. It was because the Germans—"

"Mrs. Seasonby, I say it was because—"

"Peleg, you know better. You are only trying to—"

"Madam, I don't understand that your opinion was asked in this matter anyway."

"Well, I don't want my boy instructed by an old ignoramus."

"See here, you impudent!"

"Put down your cane, you old brute.
Don't you dare bristle up to me or I'll send this rolling pin at your head, you old—"

"Never mind," interrupted Tommy;
"I think I know how wars begin."

On the Way.

A jovial son of Erin who is a conductor on a trolley car was telling a friend the other morning about his experiences as a helper in a large manufacturing establishment. The friend wanted to know what Pat quit the job for. The latter explained with emphasis that he had invited the boss to visit a place where he might burn forever.

"Well, did he go?" inquired the trolleyman's friend, who was in rare good humor.

"Oh, I dawns't know," quoth Pat,
with a broad smile, "but th' last toime
I sa' him he was smokin'!"

One Thing He Forgot.

A native born American member of a party of four business men who often lunched together took great delight in joking the others on their foreign birth.

"It's all very well for you fellows to talk about what we need in this country," he said, "but when you come to think of it you're really only intruders. Not one of you was born here. You're welcome to this country, of course, but you really oughtn't to forget what you owe us natives who open our doors to you."

"Maybe," said an Irishman in the party thoughtfully. "Maybe. But there's one thing you seem to forget.
I came into this country with me fare paid an' me clothes on me back. Can you say the same?"—Everybody's.

BASE BALL.FRIDAY.

On Friday afternoon, at League Park, the Winchester Hustlers defeated the home team by a score of 6 to 0. Dugger held the visitors for six innings without a hit, the team was handicapped by being without a left fielder. It was also known before the game that Dugger was not in his usual form, but still he took his turn in the box without a murmur and pitched fine ball. When not pitching Dugger had been playing regular in the field without his proper rest. We venture to say that this Dugger will set the Blue Grass League on fire in the pitcher's box, when the expected new men are signed and he can take his regular turn after the required rest of the pitcher. Horn, the Winchester catcher, was benched by Umpire Rasche in the fifth inning for abusive talk. This game would have been easily won if Dugger had been given good support.

SATURDAY.

On Saturday, the Bourbonites went to Winchester and wallowed the life out of the Hustlers by a score of 10 to 2. They had their batting eye along and knocked three of the Hustlers' crack pitchers out. They all look alike to them. Poole was invincible, allowing only four hits and striking out eleven men. It was Poole's eighth consecutive win, leaving him the only undefeated pitcher in the league. He was given excellent support by the whole team. Every one of them deserving special mention, but lack of space forbids. Winchester was simply beaten to a frazzle, and the faces of the Winchester people impressed you as the faces of a congregation attending a funeral instead of a baseball game.

SUNDAY.

There were between fifteen hundred and two thousand people present Sunday afternoon to witness the last of the series of four games between the Winchester and Paris clubs. The result was in favor of Paris by the score of 5 to 2.

Winchell was in the box and was in good form having speed and good control. He kept the seven hits well scattered and was given excellent support by the entire aggregation. Dugger's playing in left field was brilliant, he accepted every chance. He came from deep left like a whirlwind and caught a fly between short and second, firing the ball on the run to Elgin and completed the prettiest double play ever seen on the ground. Again he made a great running catch of a foul fly, taking the ball from the fence in deep left.

Tony was pitted by Winchester against Winchell and was touched up for nine hits. Tony lost his temper by not having a catcher that suited him and threatened to whip manager Horn and the entire Winchester team one at a time. Tony is a great pitcher, but if he is not given the right kind of support he gets riled and talks out in meeting. He threatened to quit the game.

Reed, the former Paris fielder played a good game for Winchester. This series broke even for the two teams the home team taking two out of the four games.

Dunbar and Rasche were the umpires it being Dunbar's first appearance here on balls and strikes and he impressed all as being a fair and competent umpire.

The following is the score by innings and summary of the game:

Paris.....0 0 1 2 0 0 2 x-5
Winchester.....0 0 1 0 1 0 0 0-2
Batteries—Paris, Winchell and Felix; Winchester, Tony and Ellis. Hits—Paris, 9; Winchester 7. Errors—Paris, 2; Winchester 3. Earned runs—Paris 3; Winchester 1. Two base hits—Tony, Seeback. Sacrifice hits—Ochs, Hannigan 2, Winchell, Steele. Stolen bases—Ochs. Hit by pitched ball—Barnett. Bases on balls—Off Tony 2; off Winchell 2. Struck out—By Winchell 4; by Tony 4. Double plays—Sawyer to Barney to Campbell, Dugger to Elgin Seeback to Scott to Elgin 2. Left on bases—Winchester, 5; Paris 6. Umpires—Dunbar and Rasche.

NOTES

Practically all of our boys were able to connect with the wonderful Tony's twisters, and the nine hits secured were bunched when needed.

Ochs, Scott and Hannigan are playing their positions well and nothing that is possible for them to get ever touches the ground.

Lexington will come down today to try conclusions with the Bourbonites and tomorrow the Bourbonites will go to Lexington for a game with the colts.

Winchester sent down quite a large crowd to see the game, but the number was not so large as have previously accompanied the club to games in this city on Sunday.

Seeback's two-bagger was one that was much needed and came at a most opportune time, netting the locals one run. Despite his bad ankle he is playing a good game.

Pitcher Davis, of Fulton, Ky, who was signed by the Paris club, reported by wire Saturday that in a game Friday he had dislocated his shoulder, and would be unable to report for duty.

Paris is playing remarkable ball up to the present time and out of the last twenty-eight games played have won twenty-one. The class of ball they are now playing bids fair to put them at the top of the list if they continue.

Every time Dugger returned from

Madam, Get This Free Cake of Toilet Soap Today

We have instructed the Paris druggists to present during this week only a full 25c cake of Savon Marvelo—the ideal hot weather soap—to every woman who purchases a 50 cent jar of Crème Marvelo.

Savon Marvelo is a peroxide soap which removes all odor of perspiration from the body and prevents stain. It liberates oxygen when used in washing and makes the skin soft and clear. It bleaches the skin. One lady writes—"It certainly dissipates body odors completely."

Remember, we give this soap free to you, Madam, with every jar of Crème Marvelo which you buy. Crème Marvelo—the summer cream—will be an indispensable part of your summer outfit when you have once used it. Unlike other creams it does not leave the skin greasy nor does it stain the daintiest fabrics. It will allow you to have a clear, becoming tan and will absolutely prevent sunburn.

Other Marvelo Preparations
Dentogen—an H₂O₂ Tooth Powder—by forming peroxide of hydrogen in the crevices of the teeth it neutralizes the decaying food particles at the same time making the teeth a pearly white and leaving the mouth sweet and clean.

Poudre Marvelo—a smooth, fine face powder which adheres firmly to the skin—the most desirable powder for warm weather. It aids the healthfulness of the skin.

We are giving you this soap because we want you to prove for yourself that it is the ideal hot weather toilet soap. Don't delay but call on your druggist at once.

G. S. VARDEN & SON, Druggists

the field he received a vigorous round of applause from the hundreds of fans who went wild over his fine running catch in left. Dugger is fast becoming a favorite among the fans and when the time comes for him to take a rest and as some his position on the mound without playing a fielding position he will make a record that will be a credit to himself and the club.

Felix is still doing good work behind the bat, while Elgin's work on first is highly pleasing. Both are hitting consistently and contributing a big lot to the strength of the Bourbonites.

Barnett caught one in the left side from Tony's strong right which came near laying the third baseman out of the game. In a few seconds he recovered from the blow and took his place on first.

A hard rain began to fall yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock and prevented the game between Paris and Lexington. These teams will play here today. Dugger will be in the box for the home team.

Hanley Williams, catcher and outfielder, of Nashville, Tenn., was signed yesterday by manager Schmidt, of the Paris team, and is expected to arrive tonight or tomorrow. There will also be a new pitcher from Nashville here Saturday, who will pitch Sunday's game.

Jimmie Poole will tomorrow face the Colts for the second time, and while he has fulfilled his promise to win seven consecutive games, and has up to this time made it one better, hopes to be able to say that he defeated every team in the league not less than twice before he is credited with a loss.

Umpire Dunbar assessed a fine of $5.00 against first baseman Campbell, of the Hustlers for using language that was very unbecoming of a player on the field. Horn was benched for a like offense and our Schmidt was taken off the coaching line for agitating the rooters in the bleachers, to take advantage of Tony's aerial flight. Some class to the ump who can do all this in his initial game.

There has been little done in Bourbon Circuit Court since Friday's issue. The case of W. W. Kenney vs. Ed Burke took up the business of the Court on Saturday. The jury returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $125. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Ray Mann, of Louisville.

The case of Floyd Brown, colored, charged with selling liquors without license and on Sunday in Claysville, occupied the whole of yesterday morning. The jury brought in a verdict of $250 fine in the three cases.

After this trial Judge Stout finally discharged the petit juries. Herman Margolen was granted a divorce from his wife, Celia Margolen. The balance of the term will be taken up in hearing equity cases.

The Red Fox Given Hot Chase.

It is said that there is a "Big Red Fox" that lives out on Eighth street, that roams around after dark peeping in his neighbors window. Kinder on the order of "Jack the Peeper." He was caught in the yard of one of his neighbors a few nights ago and a lively chase was indulged in for a few minutes. He ran through several yards until he hit Walker's Avenue, then down Eighth street he flew, closely pursued by his fleet footed neighbor until he struck Singer's Alley, then the old sly fox darted down the alley, ran against and knocked down a colored couple coming out of the alley, and was soon lost sight of. He is a sly old fox and his heavy weight don't seem to handicap him at all when it comes to running. It is only a matter of time until he will be landed.

Vandals of The Worst Type.

On Friday last, Miss Florence Conway, the beautiful young high school graduate who was drowned near Winchester, was buried in the Catholic cemetery in this city. Her grave was covered with beautiful flowers and floral designs, among them was a pillow made of the most exquisite wax flowers with the name "Florence" in the center.

The services were concluded at the cemetery about noon. The parents of this lovely young girl, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Conway, left the grave and came down into the city to the home of relatives for dinner. After dinner they returned to the grave of their beloved daughter and found that in the short time of their absence some vandal of the worst type had been there and had pulled the choice flowers from the wax pillar, had cut to pieces the natural flower designs, stolen the ribbons and cards, and in fact had simply wrecked the bed of lovely flowers that loving friends had placed upon the grave.

The grief of the parents when they found the grave in this condition was heart rending. We do not know the perpetrators of this crime, for it is a crime, we do not care to know that such vandals live in our midst, but the bereaved parents desire for the vandals to know that their names are known to them.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Arabian Horses in Ireland.

A live question among zoologists has long been that of the origin of distinctively oriental characteristics among the horses of Ireland. Many have believed that the cause was the introduction, in historic times, of horses from the Spanish peninsula, possessing eastern characters. Recently, however, Dr. R. F. Scharff has examined the remains of Irish horses from bogs, caves and crannogs, many of which he believes to have been wild horses, and he finds that these are quite as Arab in their forms as any of the modern horses of Ireland, and even more so. The conclusion is that the oriental features of the modern stock are the result of inheritance from an original wild stock possessing those characteristics. — Youth's Companion.

NO DRAGGING OF BUNDLES

ON THE

NEW CENTURY BINDER

It Does Clean Work

A binder that does not cleanly separate the bundles from the untied grain costs a lot of your temper and time. Time is money during harvest. To avoid this loss use the New Century. The above cut tells the story. From the moment the needle appears above the grain until it returns beneath the deck, no grain is fed down by the packers. They serve to keep the grain from pressing against the needle. The revolving discharge arms do not come into contact with the untied grain. For good clean work use the New Century. If you will only let us show you the New Century and thoroughly explain it we'll be satisfied with the result for it will be another sale for us—one more satisfied customer.

Genuine Underdraft

IS TO BE HAD ON THE

ADMIRAL MOWER ONLY

THE WONDERFULLY EASY FOOT-LIFT
THIS CUT ALSO ILLUSTRATES THE DIRECT UNDERDRAFT FEATURE

Every farmer knows that the greater the "Underdraft" of a mower, the better and easier that mower will do its work. Every other maker of mowers uses some device that will enable him to secure as much "Underdraft" as possible. The best of these devices, however, are but makeshifts by which at least two-thirds of the draft is applied through the pole. Walter A. Wood Mowers alone possess genuine "Underdraft." Every ounce of draft is applied through the draft rod (shown in above cut) right where it is needed. A visit to this store will make this valuable feature clear. We honestly believe the Admiral is the best mower on the market to-day and are eager to show it to you and tell you all about it.

Negro Has Lowest Bid.

A negro—a contractor of Frankfort, presented the lowest bid for the construction of two new buildings at the State Normal and Industrial Institute for colored persons located there, but it is probable that all bids will be rejected and new ones called for. The lowest bid was $32,000 and as only $33,000 was appropriated if the lowest bid was accepted only a small amount would be left for interior decorations and furnishings. There were five bidders for the contract. It is probable that a call will be made to scale down the prices asked by the contractors. The arrival of a negro architect from Washington, who designed the buildings, is awaited at Frankfort before any definite action is taken.

Worth Trying.

It is intimated that one feature of the plans of the Burley Tobacco Society for 1909 is for the farmers to own their own warehouses for the storage of pooled tobacco. It has been proven by experience that by such an arrangement a great saving is made. In Bracken county, where the farmers built their own storage warehouses the tobacco was not only handled better and cheaper but that the warehouses, at the reduced rate of storage and insurance they provided, was able to declare a dividend to the stockholders in the warehouse companies over 100 per cent—in other words the stockholders, (the farmers) received more than enough to pay for the stock and still have the stock left. Let the growers provide their own storage houses.—Dover News.

Probing Malpractice.

Dr. J. N. McCormack, Secretary of the State Board of Health, spent Friday night in Frankfort, making an investigation into the charges that criminal operations have taken place in that city with an alarming recklessness and fatality lately.

Accompanied by a number of Frankfort physicians who have discovered evidences of such unlawful practice, Dr. McCormack visited a number of places where it was thought evidence could be obtained. Just what was the results of these visits none would say, but Dr. McCormack said Saturday morning:

"We will probably ask Judge Stout to call the grand jury into session to look into several cases where the circumstances are very suspicious. We have one man under suspicion and believe that we have the necessary evidence against him. There is some evidence that money is being used to hush up matters and keep the people from telling what they might know; and we have lines on this too."

Stung for Fifteen Years.

Jute is India Hemp.

So many inquiries are being made in Washington concerning the effect of the recent tariff on jute and jute butts procured by Senator Bradley and as there seems to be a failure to understand its effect, the Senator makes the following explanation:

"Jute is also called India Hemp. It is a species of hemp grown by laborers in India who are paid five cents per day. In 1890, the tariff duty was removed and since that time, it has been imported free. Last year 107,533 tons came to this country. The strength of hemp to jute is as 100 to 60. For this reason there are certain articles required to possess great strength which cannot be made from jute, and consequently hemp has a special standing in this field. But this field is quite contracted as there is comparatively a small demand for those articles, and the only reason hemp is profitable is because the crop is so limited."

"When this limited market is supplied, hemp cannot in other respects compete with jute, and hence while the total amount of hemp raised and imported in this country is only about thirteen million tons, while as stated we have more than 107,533 tons of jute imported. Hence hemp is raised in small quantities. Instead of the eighty million tons we once produced, we now produce about eight million."

"If the amendment placing 15 cent per pound on jute and jute butts should become the law, the production of hemp will be greatly stimulated and enlarged and will on account of its superiority displace the immense quantity of jute now imported."

Sweetly Solemn Thought.

The realization that our most troublesome troubles may be dramatized falls like a benediction on the pensive and panting heart.—Cleveland News.

—Corn, ground cob and all, together with a portion of oats, makes a good feed, not only for cows, but the horses as well.

—In several counties in Texas last week new wheat was being bought from the thrasher at $1.35 per bushel. This means that flour will make another big jump in the near future.

—The farmer who has planted a big corn crop this year all get big returns for his time and money. That seems to be the consensus of opinion of well posted men.

—Wool at thirty cents beats tobacco at most any old price. Tobacco kills the land, while sheep improves it. Some of these old farms have been worn out by tobacco culture could be made to produce sheep.

—The total sales of leaf tobacco on the Cincinnati market from January 1, 1909, to last Saturday, June 19, amounted to 2,272 hogsheads, against 21,393 hogsheads, sold during corresponding period of last year, and 23,437 hogsheads, sold during corresponding period of 1907.

—At Millersburg, Wednesday, W. M. Layson delivered to Bert McClintock 35 210 pound hogs at 7 1-4 cents per pound. Marston Bros., of near Millersburg, delivered to same buyer at the same time 54 hogs that averaged about 250 pounds, also at 7 1-4 cents.

Had Premonition.

The body of Miss Florence Conway, the Winchester High School girl, who was drowned in the Kentucky river, at Ford, last Tuesday afternoon, was interred in the family lot in the Paris cemetery Friday, the services being conducted in the presence of a large assemblage.

A singular feature of the drowning as related here Friday by relatives, was that enroute to the river Miss Conway and her companions were detailing their dreams of the night before and Miss Conway said that she dreamed that she had been drowned at the identical spot where she met her death. She even predicted the rescue of her schoolmate, Miss Bush, and all the details of the tragic event followed in the reality.

After Insurance Taxes.

Insurance Commissioner Charles W. Bell is sending out notices to policy holders in insurance companies not authorized to do business in the State, calling their attention to the act of the General Assembly which compels the policy holders to pay a tax of $2 on each $100 premium paid them by the State. This is the only way the State has of reaching insurance companies which write insurance in the State and have taken out no license or authorization for an agency in the State, the business being written through the company's office in some other State.

Much of this class of insurance gets by untaxed in Kentucky, for the reason that the only method the Insurance Department has of learning where such insurance has been taken out is through the assistance of insurance agents who have authority to transact business in the State. The agents who do business by authority of the State are usually willing to tip off the department whenever they learn of a policyholder who is doing business with an unauthorized company, for the reason that the payment of taxes falls upon the policyholder and puts him to trouble that he does not meet in dealing with authorized companies. This tends, the agents believe, to inducing the policyholders to do business with the unauthorized companies. The Insurance Department keeps up at regular list of policyholders over the State who hold risks in out-of-State companies and annually sends them notification of their taxes, calling attention to the law. This list is constantly being added to from time to time as information comes of others who are protecting their property in companies not authorized in the State.

Superintendent of K. P. Home.

Prof. R. G. Lowry, of Nicholasville, was elected superintendent of the Knights of Pythias Widows and Orphans' Home to succeed J. G. Byers, resigned, at a meeting of the board of managers of the home held at Lexington Friday evening. Prof. Lowry has been for several years principal of the Nicholasville public schools and is widely known among Knights of Pythias all over the State. Prof. Lowry's wife was elected matron of the home. Prof. and Mrs. Lowry will assume their duties about the 1st of July.

Mr. Byers resigned as superintendent on account of his wife's ill health. The members of the board of managers who attended the meeting were: Emmett Orr, of Covington, president; Henry Rhodes, Owensboro; R. M. Hunter, Nicholasville; L. H. Davis, Hopkinsville; W. C. G. Hopbbs, Lexington; O. H. Pollard, Jackson, and J. W. Carter of this city. The election of Prof. Lowry was unanimous, no other candidate being considered.

Two Arctic Enemies.

Since the beginning of time there probably has been enmity between the polar bear and the walrus. Except for the walrus, bruin's reign over the arctic regions has been almost unchallenged since the race of mammoths passed. All the hardy flesh eaters that inhabit the bleak, unfertile northland are his natural prey. But most of all he depends upon the seals and sea lions for his food. There is only one animal that is powerful enough to defend itself and offspring against the polar bear's attack—the huge and cumbersome walrus; but its movements are so slow and awkward when out of the water that often it is impossible for the bulky animal to retard the swift attack and retreat of its smaller opponent.—St. Nicholas.

Preached with a Broken Leg.

During the recent severe weather in England Rev. Thomas McClelland, one of the organizing secretaries of the Church Missionary society, fell at Guildford while descending a hill on his way to preach at St. Saviour's church. He managed to crawl to the church, though considerably shaken, and rested in the vestry until the time came to preach, when he succeeded in reaching the pulpit, and gave an able and impressive sermon. When the service was over Mr. McClelland collapsed, and was carried to the house of friends. It was found that his leg was broken just above the ankle. After having the limb set, he rested a few days, and was then conveyed to his home.

HARRY SIMON'S REMOVAL SALE NOW ON!

Mrs. Gould Granted Divorce.

Justice Dowling Friday granted Mrs. Howard Gould a separation from her husband and alimony of $36,000 a year. In the Justice's decision he said that all the evidence was in favor of Mrs. Gould and that the conduct of Mrs. Gould when she was alleged to have been intoxicated might have been caused by excitement. The Justice disposed of the allegations concerning Mrs. Gould's meetings with Dustin Farnum by saying that they all occurred since Mr. and Mrs. Gould separated and that Mr. Gould had never objected to them.
